

Sacred Dimensions of the Pathwork

3-Day Engagement

Realizing the Greater Awareness

Thursday 1/9 – Sunday 1/12, 2020

Led by Erena Bramos, Donovan Thesenga

The Pathwork lectures tell us that we are, already, that which we seek. In our human existence we can come to realize an exquisite sense of intimacy with all that is, in an experience of total peace which does not depend on accomplishing anything.

In the final analysis, all that is asked of us is to find the courage to let go of our cherished identity as a solitary seeker of the truth.

It is not an easy task, this letting go, as the veils which obstruct the light also create a false sense of security, which supports the belief that a separated self can control its own destiny.

In this workshop, in the sacred space created by our collective longing for truth, we will endeavor to recognize these veils. We will then be able to make connection to an ever-present Grace.

This Grace can support us in being our true selves—fully, spontaneously, authentically. Then we can deeply know that we only need to cease our constant seeking, so that we can simply BE what we already are.
